TWO HURLED FROM BUGGY AND HURT.

Frank Finley and Little Charlie Patterson Narrowly Escape Death.

BOTH BADLY CUT AND BRUISED

Horse Frightened at Engine at Morgan Station and Dashes Toward Broad Ford—After Occupants Are Thrown Out Buggy Plunges 30 Feet.

Frank Finley and Little Charlie Patterson, the latter a son of C. W. Patterson of the Wynnan Hotel, had a narrow escape from death in a runaway between Morgan Station and Broad Ford Saturday night. Both were badly cut and bruised from being thrown from the buggy.

While driving past Morgan Station, the horse frightened at a passing locomotive and started heading down the road. Finley did his best to calm the terrified animal, but his efforts were vain. The maddened horse took the bit in his teeth and bolted at a terrific pace.

Finley found that he could not stop the horse and dropped the reins, needing both hands to prevent himself and his boy companion from being hurled out of the vehicle. In spite of his efforts both were tossed from the buggy as the horse swerved to cross the railroad tracks near Broad Ford.

The little Patterson had struck his head on a rail, cutting a gash extending several inches from the right ear to the back of his head. His body is a mass of bruises. Finley sustained a badly bruised shoulder and leg and was otherwise injured.

The horse continued its wild chase, until it dashed across a culvert and plunged down a 30 foot embankment. The buggy was a total wreck.

A freight crew came upon the injured man and boy, who were dazed and half conscious. Blood oozed from the wound in the Patterson lad's head and was oozing from his right ear. Finley was able to walk, but the Patterson lad was scarcely in a condition to be moved. The trainmen picked him up carefully and were about to start to Connellsville with a light engine. Dr. J. French Kerr happened past in his automobile, returning to Connellsville after making a professional call in that section. He was hailed and he brought the injured ones to Connellsville in his car.

It was necessary to take a number of stitches in the gash alongside the Patterson boy's head. He is around again, but presents a badly battered appearance. That both were not instantly killed is remarkable.

President L. W. Hollinger of the Keystone Tube Works, now in course of erection between Connellsville and Fayette station, reports that the Pennsylvania railroad civil engineers have completed their survey for a siding to reach the entire length of their new building. The siding will reach out from the main line a distance of 1,500 feet.

F. C. Ferrer, Vice President of the company, is now a permanent resident of Connellsville with his office in the Title & Trust building.

Dawson Plans About Complete For Fourth of July Celebration.

Special to The Courier. DAWSON, Pa., June 21.—Preparations for the monstrous Fourth of July celebration to be held here are almost completed. If everything works out as intended by those in charge of the affair it will be the biggest celebration that this place has ever witnessed. The Townspeople Band of Connellsville has been engaged to furnish music during the day and as the talent of this band is well known there is no doubt but that the music end of the program will be well provided.

The committees have all about completed their work and will have everything on hand that will be necessary to entertain and refresh the thousands who will join in the celebration. Five thousand large white and blue posters have arrived and are in the hands of the committee who will see that they are posted all

Arrests Will Follow Burning Of Negro Ravisher at Stake.

"Pork Barrel" Bills Make New Spending Record

United Press Telegram. WASHINGTON, June 21.—The appropriations made at this session of Congress are the largest in history. During the session the expenditure of $1,050,000,000 was authorized. At the last session $1,011,000,000 was appropriated. The Public Buildings bill was passed at 1 o'clock this morning following a long, hot session of the House. This bill appropriates $20,000,000 for Federal buildings throughout the country. The $10,000,000 increase this year is due to the fact that two "pork barrel" bills were rushed through, the rivers and harbors measure and the appropriation for buildings.

Heretofore it has been a custom to pass these bills in alternate years. The Public Buildings bill carries with it the additional $25,000 for the Federal building at Connellsville.

Steve Hits His Wife With Pair of Scissors

Special to The Courier. UNIONTOWN, June 21.—Both Steve Monlock and his wife Lizzie, who live at Fairbanks, have their own ideas of punishment and quarrelled over a job of it on June 20. Steve was doing the work and it did not satisfy his wife, who objected in strenuous terms. After declining the invitation to do the work herself, and continuing the argument, Lizzie received a sharp blow over the nose from a pair of shears Steve held. She made information against him before Squire John Boyle, but at the hearing this morning the matter was adjourned amicably and the two left with the dove of peace perched in the Monlock household.

Reno Will Get the Big Fight Says Rickard

United Press Telegram. RENO, June 21.—Tex Rickard, promoter of the Johnson-Jeffries bout, this morning announced that Reno would get the fight if they would put up $10,000 as a fight license guarantee against the arena for the fight should the fight be held there. This announcement practically assures the people that Reno will get the battle.

SENTENCES ARE MILD IN COURT.

Judges are Lenient With Those Who Face Them This Morning.

JUVENILE COURT HAS TWO

The Brooks Boys, Both Under 14 Years of Age, are Sent to New Homes—Woman is Adjudged in Contempt—Other Routine Matters.

Special to The Courier. UNIONTOWN, June 21.—The regular weekly session of court was held this morning at 10 o'clock and lasted about 15 minutes. Both judges were in attendance.

Mike Snyder was sentenced to pay one-half the costs, as directed by the jury, which returned a verdict of acquittal for him. Solomon Weiss, the prosecutor, took Mike's picture. The latter was so displeased at the likeness of himself that he vented his fury on the camera.

Tony Percella, convicted yesterday morning of violating the mining laws at the Little Redstone mine and recommended to the mercy of the court, was directed to pay the costs, sentence being suspended.

Attorney Thomas Hudson appeared to the court to be latent in the case of Dynamite Cotardo of Smock, for burying a hatchet in the face of Lewis Brito on the night of last month. The defendant is of a jealous nature, and claims he struck in defense when Brito came at him with a pick after he had mentioned something about his affections towards his wife. All of the parties concerned have been reconciled and Judge Umbel ordered him placed under the care of the probation officer, instructing him to pay the costs.

Juvenile Court convened at 10:15 and the matter of disposing of the cases of Earl and John Brooks taken up. John was placed in the custody of Mr. Stuart of Outcrop, while Earl will be looked after by George Johnson of Cheat Haven. Charles O'Neill, the probation officer at once took the boys to their new homes. Both of the lads are under 11 years of age.

Judge Umbel handed down an opinion in the case of H. Humphries, who pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace James Farrell of Fairbairn, to selling adulterated vinegar, paying the costs and a fine of $50. He later filed five exceptions, why judgment should be reversed. Under the circumstances, the five exceptions were overruled and judgment affirmed.

Humphries was arrested on May 11, after selling some vinegar to Pure Food Agent James McGregor on April 23. When pleading guilty he claimed he had a guarantee from the makers, who would protect him, but after his appeal they dropped the case.

An opinion and order, reversing the decision of Squire W. H. Mosser of Georges township, in the case of Joseph Teets against John H. O'Neill, was handed down by Judge Umbel. O'Neill entered judgment against Teets for $175.14 and was sustained by the justice. Teets, in making his appeal, claimed defective records were kept of the case, this being one of five reasons filed by him.

O. R. Brownfield and H. S. Williams have been appointed appraisers in the case of Albert G. Moore of Georges township who made an assignment for the benefit of creditors.

A statement had been filed by the plaintiffs in the suit of Sarah A. Arenberg and Hester G. Foglio, executrices of the late Gilbert M. Nealon against the Monongahela railroad claiming $5,000 damages for land taken. The will of Isaac Rider was filed today. He died June 10 in South Union township. Everything is left to the wife, Mary S. Rider. Joseph G. Rider, a son, is named executor and testamentary guardian of Carrie and Ernest Moser, grandchildren. ## Gruesome Murder is Revealed in a Trunk Mystery

United Press Telegram. PORTLAND, Ore., June 21.—Through a blunder on the part of the undertakers in misdirecting a trunk led to the discovery of a ghastly crime in the murder of William A. Johnstone, charged with perpetrating the crime Mrs. Johnstone's watch was found in Webb's pocket, also a bloodstained handkerchief.

An ordinary looking trunk was checked by way of the Oregon & Washington railroad to an obscure station on another line. The baggage man sent the trunk back to the baggage room. A pool of blood leaked from the trunk. The trunk was opened and Johnstone's body discovered. Johnstone's room at the hotel was spattered with blood. When arrested Mrs. Johnstone had $1,000 in currency upon her.

Brooks Tells Funny Story to the Police

United Press Telegram. PITTSBURGH, June 21.—Fleeing from a Williamsburg house, clad only in his underwear, J. A. Brooks, a real estate dealer, this morning told the police a queer story. He said he went to the house early this morning to visit a woman. He was set upon by a prizefighter, beaten, threatened with a revolver, disrobed and tied to a bed. While one man kept guard another forced him to write a check for $200, took a gold watch, and about $20 in cash from his pocket.

Mrs. Annie James was later arrested in the house indicated by Brooks. She says her husband returned unexpectedly and got Brooks with her and proceeded to tie him to the bed. The articles reported to have been stolen from Brooks were found with his clothes when the police made a search.

"Big Stick" is Flourished on the Savings Bank Bill

United Press Telegram. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.—Legislators were given their first glimpse of the Roosevelt "big stick" when President Taft announced this morning that his proposed trip to New York City would be delayed to take this afternoon, would be cancelled for an indefinite period.

President Taft declared he would stay right in Washington as long as would be necessary to see a satisfactory postal savings bank bill passed in the House.

Not a few have determined to take the trip if only for the picturesque ride between here and New Castle. This is one of the features of the trip. Instead of being an objection, the two hour and a half ride is so full of scenic delights that it is a pleasure to look forward to the trip. And, besides, who doesn't enjoy a ride on a trolley train when everyone is in the best of humor and out for a good time?

According to schedule the six balloons, each bearing a slip which can be exchanged for a railroad ticket to the park, were sent up last night. The evening was just the kind for such occasions and only one balloon came to grief. It rose several hundred feet and started northward but ignited and fell on the Pinnacle above the Catholic Church. The other balloons were carried that towards the north and then veered eastward, landing somewhere in the mountainous country.

Carl Taylor appeared this morning with the ticket he found on the Pinnacle. He will make the trip to and from the park without cost. This was the only slip redeemed up until noon.

The Greater Connellsville Band of the West Side will take in the picnic and make music all day long. The presence of the band will make things even more interesting.

S. Ewart & Company of Pittsburgh have contributed the coffee for the occasion, donating 30 pounds of "Old Reliable" for the picnicers.

Stork at Coalbrook. The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown near Coalbrook, this morning and left a bouncing baby boy. Mrs. Brown was formerly Miss Wilma Tomney, daughter of Superintendent and Mrs. P. J. Tomney of Trotter.

Drawheads Pull Out. Four drawheads pulled out of a west-bound freight train west of Layton yesterday morning. No. 11 had to run around the freight using the east-bound track.

Summer Begins Tomorrow. Summer officially begins tomorrow morning at 3 o'clock, according to the almanac.

Fair Weather. Fair tonight and Wednesday is the noon weather bulletin.

Thrilling Rescue of Boy and Man From Reservoir Near Dunbar.

George Hiles, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hiles of Cow Rock Hill, above the Dunbar tunnel, met with an accident yesterday which almost cost him his life. He was playing with another boy named William Wilson at the reservoir owned by Daniel Haysler of Dunbar, and losing his balance fell off a shift that the boys were rowing in. The boy had gone down for the second time when a man named John Lowry came to his rescue. The lad seized Lowry about the neck so frantically that Lowry was unable to get to shore and was forced to call for help for himself.

William Hiles, a colored man, happened along in time to hear Lowry's call or there would probably have been a double tragedy. Both were brought safely to shore and the boy restored to his parents. Hiles modestly declined any credit for his part in the rescue, but Carnegie hero medals have been awarded in cases that were no more worthy.

THE MALTA PICNIC PLANS ALL READY.

Only the Weather Man Can Spoil Things Now.

A BIG CROWD WILL GO

To Cascade Park Tomorrow Over the Lake Erie Railroad, Three Sections, Leaving From the West Side Early Tomorrow Morning.

It is all up to the weather man. If the prospects early tomorrow morning are for a bright, warm day, the Knights of Malta expect to break all picnic records and to fill their three special trains of 10 cars each. The last work has been done on the preliminaries and it only remains for the committees to look after the lunch baskets and keep the crowds amused. That last will not be hard to do, for Cascade Park is noted for the variety of its features for entertaining visitors.

The members of St. Omar Community No. 511 want to reach the 4,000 mark in attendance at their fourth annual picnic. They took more than 2,000 away with them to Cascade Park, three years ago and to beat that figure is the aim this year.

The sale of railroad tickets began yesterday at Gorman's West Main street store and quite a number were disposed of. It is expected that the sale today will assume large proportions. The most, however, are not willing to take a chance on the weather and will wait until tomorrow morning and get their tickets at the Pittsburg & Lake Erie depot on the West Side.

As each of the three trains will carry a combination baggage coach, baskets will be taken on the same trains as the passengers. Those going on the second or third sections need not be separated from their lunch by more than the length of a few coaches. This will minimize the confusion at both ends of the trip.

Not a few have determined to take the trip if only for the picturesque ride between here and New Castle. This is one of the features of the trip. Instead of being an objection, the two hour and a half ride is so full of scenic delights that it is a pleasure to look forward to the trip. The Lower Tyrone Township School Board held a special meeting Saturday afternoon at the Dawson National Bank for the purpose of deciding upon the millage for the coming year. The millage will range from $15 to $25 the same as last year. The certificate grade must be 15 or better. The results of the election will not be made known until the afternoon. ## Lightning Plays Queer Pranks Out in Connellsville Township.

The lightning played some curious pranks during the fierce storm Saturday evening, but the best story comes from Connellsville township. Just after the family of Aaron Fitchcraft, who lives on the mud pike, had retired for the evening, an unusually bright flash came with a bolt which struck the chimney. Fitchcraft started to an adjoining room about 10 feet away to seek refuge. Opening the door he was surprised to find the room on fire and flames coming from a closet at the west side of the house where the lightning had struck. The floor was covered with soot and plaster. Mrs. Fitchcraft who was sleeping in a bed not more than six feet away did not awaken until called.

The parlor which was under the bed-room had also caught on fire and a couch in the room was standing on edge, one leg was shattered and another was filled with pieces of glass, from a picture which was hanging on the wall. Fitchcraft carried water and drowned out the fire. No insurance was carried on the building.

The home of Frank Nickelson in this neighborhood was also struck but was not damaged to any extent. The home of J. W. C. Brown in the same vicinity was damaged by the heavy hail storm. There is a patent roof on the Brown home and the hail stones were so heavy that they were driven through it. The property is owned by John and William Nickelson.

NEW COAL ROAD FROM OHIOPILE.

Engineers Again on Surveys to Tap Coal Fields

HELD BY THE KEISTERS

And Other Capitalists in Scottsdale, Embracing Some 30,000 Acres of Coal and Timber Land on Pennsylvania Line and in West Virginia.

With the appearance of engineers in the field the story is practically confirmed that the Scottsdale capitalists headed by the Keisters will build their proposed railroad, from Ohiopile through Stewart and Wharton townships and into West Virginia connecting with both the Baltimore & Ohio and the Western Maryland lines at Ohiopile. This will make Ohiopile one of the busiest points along the new trunk line this side of the mountains.

The line through Wharton township was projected several years ago, when the Keisters and others secured more than 30,000 acres of coal land in the mountains on the Pennsylvania line and over in West Virginia.

The proposed road will be through virgin country rich in coal and timber. The coal was bought comparatively cheap, considering the fact that the vein is said to be from five to six feet in thickness because the original owners did not believe there would be a railroad to develop it for many years to come.

It is said the engineers have located, through the hills and valleys, a comparatively easy grade, with but few cuts and fills, surveying a line which can be built as cheaply as any mountain railroad, and which will open a vast tract of wilderness for development. Not only for coal, but for timber will the railroad be built. Thousands of acres of virgin trees are standing in the section to be tapped by the new railroad, and if constructed, the new line will be an immense feeder for the two trunk lines passing through Ohiopile.

The distance, as the crow flies, is 15 miles from Ohiopile to the coal fields. The ramifications of the survey more than double this, it is said. It is reported that after the second survey is completed and the original lines confirmed, the construction contracts will be awarded.

Torrid Heat Follows Storm in Coke Region

Yesterday was one of the warmest days of the present season and today promises to be even more torrid. The mercury yesterday came within two degrees of reaching 90 in the afternoon. At noon today the temperature was 80 degrees and climbing again. A repetition of Saturday night's storm was feared last evening when clouds gathered in the skies, accompanied by ominous rumblings of thunder. The storm passed off, however, with only a shower during the night.

The river is falling almost as rapidly as it rose over Saturday night. This morning it had fallen to an even six feet, and a fall of two feet more will bring the stream back to the stage just prior to the big rise.

Temperature yesterday morning was 70 and in the evening 81. This morning 71 was recorded at 8 o'clock.

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 21, 1910.

CANDIDATE BERRY
WANTS ANOTHER CHANCE.

A few dissatisfied Democrats want to recall the Allentown Convention under a rule of the party which authorizes such recall upon petition of one-fourth the members.

William H. Berry and his friends have been industriously circulating the report that the Democratic State ticket was dictated by Senator Penrose, and they evidently think that they can influence public opinion sufficiently to compel a reconvention of the delegates and a reconsideration of the nominations in which case they hope to nominate Berry.

The rule, if there be such a rule, is about as wise as most Democratic deliberations. Under its workings a Democratic nomination is a rather uncertain thing, being subject to recall by any popular Democratic caprice, and the sessions of a State Convention are never final until the election is over.

It is not our province to advise the Democratic party of Pennsylvania, but if it were we would say that it were better to let well enough alone. The more the Democrats convene the more topically divided they will be.

THE MISTAKES
OF A NEWSPAPER.

The Charlestown Mail recently got a brilliant editorial boost for John Kinley Toner's gubernatorial candidacy easily mixed up with an article on canyons. The Mail tenders its apologies after the following fashion:

The mistakes of doctors are buried, those of lawyers often dangle from the gutters of the streets, while the errors of merchants, bankers and manufacturers are charged off to the profit and loss account. The mistakes of the newspaper, however, are heralded to the public, and for that reason alone undue vigilance is exerted. In point of accuracy, considering the complexity of detail and time of execution, newspapers make fewer errors than any class of business men.

The unfortunates reader blames all the mistakes in the paper on the editor, not realizing that it takes a number of editors and reporters and contributors to write and print a progressive daily, and that their work, especially on an afternoon paper, does not admit of deliberation. From morning until about one o'clock in the afternoon it is a mad rush to make the press at the hour and the minute appointed to print the paper. The railroad and the trolley lines which carry the papers to subscribers will not wait. The paper must be ready, and many if not most callers have a very dim appreciation of this fact. The morning paper has a much better chance, because it has all sorts of time for preparation. It has all night if necessary; yet it is not always free from errors, typographical and otherwise.

The Charlestown Mail is excusable. Charity will cut out the cancer and forget it.

A MODERN
POLITICAL COLLOSSUS.

The Washington Reporter blames the results of the Allentown Convention on one "Jim" Mulvihill, Editor Jackson, who seems to think that Jim has much to answer for. He appears to be at the bottom of all kinds of Democratic and Republican evil. He bullies Allentown and Harrisburg like a modern Colossus, and his shadow sometimes falls all over Atlantic City and stops the fish frigate bling.

The Reporter intimates that Colonel Giffney and Senator Penrose receive their inspiration from Jim. We are led to believe that Mulvihill is a bigger man than Dave Hill used to be. He looms so largely on the political horizon that his name is evidently a synonym. It ought to be Mulvihillism.

Not the least of his terror and fascination lies in the great mystery of him, and we are constrained to inquire, Who is Jim? What is Jim? Why is Jim?

LET US HAVE PEACE AND HONOR.

The Courier's suggestion that certain practices of the School Board of Connelville were far from praiseworthy and too close to unfairness extracts the following choice bit of wisdom from The News:

The Courier takes the Secretary of the School Board to task for committing the grave offense of calling off the names of some members first. If we are to go by what the Bible says, there is no distinction for the tall ones in a roll call, for "many that are first shall be last; and the last first." The School Director, any who worries over the location of his name in the roll call has little time to devote to real school matters. A representative service wins for him first place in the estimation of the public to the location of his name in the roll call will have no effect on that standing.

The News perhaps understands precisely what it means, but it is safe to say that nobody else does. It is not clear whether the reference to The Courier is complimentary or otherwise, nor is it important. It is sufficient to say that the crime of The Courier consisted in the observation that parliamentary practice required that the roll of a deliberative assembly be called in alphabetical order; and, to avoid all suspicion of unfairness, that is the way the roll should hereafter be called in the School Board.

We do not know any factions in the School Board. We only know that there should be none; and it is not our purpose to encourage them, if any

In the School Board there should be Peace with Honor.

COATLESS COUNCIL AT SCOTSDALE.

The Borough Solons Swelter
in Special Session
Last Night.

THE MILLAGE IS RECONSIDERED

One-Half Mill Increase Made and One
Mill Set Aside for Street Paving
Work—Dog Shot on Pittsburg Street—Other Notes.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, June 21.—It was a coatless Council that met last night and went through the warmest evening's session from a physical standpoint this year. Everyone shucked their coats and tried to be comfortable, but it was a vain task. However, the discussion was much cooler than it is some evenings. Those present included all the members but J. W. Fitzsimmons and J. F. Hardy. There was a reconsideration of the millage, which had been set one meeting some time ago, there being an agitation for something for street paving. Chestnut street, with its hundreds of children traveling up and down to school being a street that absolutely needs improvement, and some other streets that cry aloud for help. One of the members referred to the work on mid streets and the amount of money that is buried in them. After discussion the millage was set, with the addition of half a mill, as follows: General fund, 4 1/2; Street improvement, 1; Sinking fund, 3 1/2; and Water fund, 1/2 mill. President Hanes was authorized to select someone to make up the tax duplicate.

The abating of the alleged nuisance of the North Side Land Company whose sewer empties out now Chestnut street and Stauffer avenue was up and Attorney J. B. Smith and C. F. Kelly of the company were present and spoke in favor of the borough taking care of the sewer from the North Side plan, and said that this was the first public sewer in town that had been put in by any land company who did not then try to sell the sewer to the town. They offer the sewer for nothing to the town. Councilmen argued that inasmuch as a greater part of the North Side is in East Huntingdon township that they did not believe it right to take care of the township's sewerage and that there will be no incentive for township residents to join in the borough. The Council did not seem to object to carrying for the 1,200 feet of sewer now said to be laid, but objected to having to care for all the vast territory that may be drained into the sewer from outside of the borough. A resolution was passed that the North Side Land Company be notified to abate the nuisance of a sewer emptying near Chestnut street and Stauffer avenue within 10 days. The Land Company said that the individuals and not the Land Company are the makers of the nuisance, and a Committee of Council was named to meet with the Land Company and residents who drain into the sewer.

The ordinance regarding the running at large of dogs, demanding that they wear a collar with tax tag, a suitable muzzle, and that when they defy these styles then an impounding officer may capture the canines and confine them in a place of detention for 18 hours, and then if the dog is not released by the payment of $2 costs the dog shall be destroyed, for which the impounding officer shall receive 50 cents for killing, removing and burying the animal. The ordinance was passed unanimously on two readings.

Several Councilmen went outdoors during the evening to get a drink of water but found to their surprise and chagrin that the spigot at the Borough Building was dry. The Borough president of the Water Company having ordered that the water at the Borough Building be shut off. The fountain is dry also. The carnival crowd is responsible for this excess of economy that pervades the dealings of the water company with the town. This is only said in passing as a part of the meeting for what some of the Councilmen said of the Water Company and its doings is not printable.

A lot of signs warning motorists to go a little slow was ordered. They are needed. A lot of anti-splitting signs were ordered. They are not so much needed, every one in town is too dry to split any more. The signs having names of street will be built.

John J. Hawthorne of Mulberry street appeared and asked that Council do something to get the three shows of the Big Otto combination off of the streets right up at his house, as Mrs. Hawthorne is not well and the excitement and the bellowing of the barkers are not good for her. Mr. Hawthorne said that if nothing was done he would travel to Greensburg and get an injunction and have that part of the show stopped. Later the street committee went out and agreed that the show should be changed if necessary.

Spread Out Widely.
The Big Otto shows here under the auspices of the Volunteer Firemen surprised everyone by their size when they came in yesterday, and stretched clear around the square between Mulberry and Pittsburg and Spring and Emerson avenues. Superintendent J. J. Johnson of the West Penn and his force had a busy day of it the company wiring the entire show, and putting up 167 lights, a number equal to the production of many plants. The crowd was large last evening and the men in uniform were present at every show to see good order and act as ushers.

Large Company Here.
Scottdale is a regular show town this week. Ed. Battimore of the Guy or Opera House having brought in the Fred Vice Company of eight people which filled the house last night in spite of outside attractions.

Dog Was Shot.
A little peedle came dashing down Pittsburg street yesterday just before noon, then began to perform antics of misery and pain, rubbing back and forward in pain. The dog was shot by Chief McCudden. It is believed by some that the dog was the victim of poison.

Auto Fly Wheel Bursts Injuring Owner of Car

Special to The Courier.
SOMERSET, June 21.—On Sunday a number of persons had a narrow escape from death for serious injury when the flywheel of an Overland automobile broke into five pieces while the machine was being tested in the garage of the Somerset Automobile Company. The flying fragments of iron tore through the floor, ceiling and walls of the building, but the only person who sustained any injury was Samuel G. Worthington of Pittsburgh, the owner of the car, who sustained a badly sprained ankle from being struck by a fragment of the fly wheel. The bone of the leg was not fractured and Mr. Worthington will be fully recovered in a few days.

Mr. Worthington and a party of friends left Pittsburgh for Bradford, but were unable to complete their journey owing to the severe storm. In the party were: W. C. Jones, H. G. Saylor and Frank McWilliams, all of Pittsburgh, and all officials of the Carnegie Steel Company. These gentlemen were all standing near the car when the accident occurred. One fragment of iron penetrated two plank floors and an inch of concrete and buried itself in the floor of the cellar. The entire front portion of the machine was wrecked, practically nothing being left but the wheels.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.
Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair cantancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A recent curious incident, Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, introduced a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of those dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

"Destroy the cause—you remove the effect."
Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. One dollar bottles guaranteed; Graham & Co., Special Agents.

Campaign Committee to Meet.
A meeting of the campaign committee of the Christian Church and all members of the Sunday school attending the convention in Unadilla town last week, will be held Wednesday evening in the church.

STORM AT SMITHFIELD WAS A RECORD BREAKER

Rain Came Down in Deluge Flooding Streams Over Their Banks.

Special to The Courier.
SMITHFIELD, Pa., June 21.—This vicinity was visited on Saturday night by one of the worst downpours of rain ever known to have come this way. It had rained at intervals during the day but the deluge that came about nine o'clock in the evening was like a cloud burst. It was accompanied by incessant thunder and lightning.

York's run and Georges creek were away above their beds and cornfields and public roads were badly damaged. Grass ran south of here, was a raging torrent and a cow and calf and some pigs belonging to a resident of that vicinity are said to have been washed away and drowned.

Trestle Gave Way as a Train Passed Over it

Special to The Courier.
SOMERSET, June 21.—The wreck at Crested No. 202 has been partially cleared away this morning.

After working from midnight to 6 o'clock in the morning the wrecking crew succeeded in repairing the bridge and placing it with timbers, but when a freight train passed over it it broke and the train uncoupled, a number of cars being left on the other side of the bridge while the engine and about half of the cars came to Somerset. Owing to the rapid current the workmen are having trouble to make the bridge secure, the stone abutments having been washed away and a deep hole in the sandy bottom of the stream having been washed out. Immediately below the bridge this hole is nearly 20 feet deep. The body of the Italian killed in the wreck Sunday afternoon was found this morning about 10 feet down a stream. It had been pinned under the wrecked derrick and when the derrick was raised floated down, catching in some driftwood. The man was named Nick Periere and lived at Rockwood, where the remains were taken.

Of Party of Young Men on the Monongahela River.
William Brown and Albert Bates, two young men of West Brownsville, while rowing in the Monongahela river had their lives imperiled Sunday by being drawn into a swift current caused by the motion of a dam Brown floated 100 yards in swift current, before being rescued while Bates was taken out much farther down William Rogers and Dugan Ferguson were the rescuers.

"Snappy" McIntyre Resigns.
"Snappy" McIntyre, the police force of Fairbairn, has resigned his position. The matter of filling the vacancy will be taken up at a meeting of the Council this evening. Chief McIntyre's idea of his duties and Council's idea of them did not coincide.

LAYTON.

Charles the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hengst, is recovering from a severe attack of whooping cough.

The steam played havoc in this vicinity. Nearly every public road in the area has been washed out in some places and the culverts are all clogged. Jacobs creek went on a rampage and in many places overflowed its banks submerging the surrounding country.

An Expert's Opinion
of Skin Diseases.

A prominent national expert on skin diseases who has made you are familiar with says that in all his selections of persons he has never found so hard a case to conquer as Lezema. Yet he does not hesitate to recommend ZEMO as a most successful remedy for the treatment of Lezema, itching skin diseases, dandruff, pimples, blackheads and all other diseases of the skin and scalp. He says that not only do its curative qualities make it popular but also the fact that it is a clean, liquid remedy for external use. A great improvement over the old style greasy salves and lotions which are not only unpleasant to use but do not destroy the germ life that causes the disease. ZEMO draws the germs to the surface and destroys them, leaving the skin clean and healthy. Can be used freely on infants. Graham & Company, Connelville, and D. C. Eason, Dunbar, will gladly supply those who call with a free sample bottle of ZEMO and a booklet which explains its simple language all about skin diseases and how to cure yourself at home with ZEMO.

TIZ Makes Sick Feet Well No Matter
What Ails Them.

TIZ acts at once and makes tired, aching, swollen feet remarkably fresh and sore proof.

It is the sure remedy, you know, for everything that gets the matter with your feet. It is for sore feet and for swollen, chafing, and blisters, too. For years I have been troubled with sore and tender feet; suffered intense pain. Have had the assistance of physicians without relief. I bought a box of TIZ, which worked a perfect cure, as it has with a great many of my friends. I would not be without it. All it requires is to be known to be universally used.

A. F. Reutter, Chicago.
TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous excretions which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain, and you'll forget about your corns, blisters and callouses. You'll feel like a new person. TIZ is for sale at all druggists, 25 cents per box, or it will be sent you direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Doherty & Co., Chicago, Ill.

HEADQUARTERS AT OHIOPILE FOR THE WESTERN MARYLAND

Construction Forces Who Have Contracts for Sections of the New Road in That Vicinity.

NEARLY 1,000 MEN THERE

Will Be Engaged in Work of Grading and Later One of the Largest Bridges on the Connecting Link Will Be Erected.

Western Maryland construction work is beginning at Ohiopile and along the entire of the steam shovel, the road building of the hills and the building of Baltimore & Ohio trains.

The foreign invasion has begun, too, and the musical clatter of the sons of Italy is heard in the mountainous. The new railroad is coming and the road builders have already arrived.

Ohiopile will be headquarters for at least three construction forces. Quarters are being secured for 700 men. One big house has been rented for the American foremen, and rough board shanties will be built for the foremen. At the Ohiopile House, the representatives of the contractors make their headquarters. These are Herndon & McCort, who have the section from Ohiopile to a point 3 1/2 miles east; the Stanley Construction Company, who will build from Ohiopile to Stewart, Leitch & Company who are to continue the line westward from Stewart to Indian Creek; Foley Brothers, who western terminus John Herndon & McCort's contract and runs east to a point just west of Hutton, and Bush & Wilkey, who will build from Hutton to Harpersville.

Some big construction work is planned at Ohiopile. The bridge there will be second in size only to the big 2,000 foot viaduct at Meyersdale. It will be necessary to move one abutment of the county bridge a few feet.

The plans call for a big bridge across the Youghiogheny river beginning at the end of the county structure, extending across the stream to the lee house on the Farnell grounds, and directly through that park, past the bowling alley and baseball grounds to a point where the river must be spanned again.

At the eastern end of this bridge it will clear 12 feet above grade. No construction is already under way for the purchase of the Baptist Church and the property of Evans Bush. Other properties must also be secured. The street along the church will be abandoned and a new one laid out.

Beyond the Farnell park there will be an easy grade downward to a point where the second span across the river is to be constructed. From this point for several hundred yards the new road will practically cling to the mountainside until better ground is reached.

More machinery arrived yesterday morning and was unloaded. This included steam shovels and other material that will be needed. At Stewart a steam shovel occupies a siding, where it will remain until it can be taken across the river. This is a big job for it will be necessary to erect a temporary trestle to get the big machine to the other side. Within a week or so it is expected the work will be well under way on all contracts.

DELEGATES OFF

For the Republican State Convention at Harrisburg.

Pittsburg, June 21.—Delegates to the Republican state convention from western Pennsylvania began their trip to Harrisburg from here today.

A special train of boomers for Congressman John K. Tener of Chambersburg, left the Union station for Harrisburg at 10 o'clock this morning in advance of the regular delegation.

Allegheny county's delegation to the convention left this morning at 10:30 o'clock on a special train over the Pennsylvania railroad. In addition to the delegates from this county the Republican county committee has arranged to take a party of guests.

None of the delegates knows whom he will support for the gubernatorial nomination now that the Knox boom is out of the way.

Local boomers of the Knox candidacy here "sore" over the collapse of their plans by their candidate's withdrawal. It is now certain that Mayor Magee and his assistants felt assured that Mr. Tate's premier would stay in the fight to the finish and that they were completely taken off their feet when he declined to allow the use of his name.

Mayor Magee in speaking of the collapse of the Knox boom said: "I believe I have done what I all ways boasted I could do, that is, I could interpret public sentiment. I believe I demonstrated that sentiment in this state was for the nomination of Knox. I expect to leave this evening for the seat of war."

TEDDY WILL BE DELIGHTED

Stork Leaves Four Children at Ship Fitter's Home in Boston.

Boston, June 21.—Possibly to further mark the return of Colonel Roosevelt, his friend the stork made a flying visit to Boston and has left four infants in the home of Samuel Anderson, a ship fitter at the Charleston navy yard.

All the children, three boys and a girl, are expected to live. The mother of the children was Grace McLean, a Canadian, and is thirty-four years old. The couple have had eight other children, four of whom are living.

Swimmer Is Drowned.
Friday, O. June 21.—Julius Boenwaert, a Belgian sugar beet grower was taken with cramps while swimming and was drowned. He was twenty-six years old.

AWAY ON HONEYMOON.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Will Make Home on Pacific Coast.

New York, June 21.—After passing through the gauntlet common to all newlyweds, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and his bride got away on their honeymoon trip. Just where the young couple will pass their time has been kept a secret, but it is said they are now on a short auto tour, after which they will start for San Francisco to make their home and where Theodore, Jr., is due on July 1 to begin work as the Pacific coast manager of the suburban department of the carpet factory at Thompsonville, Conn., where he went to work after leaving Harvard.

Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church was jammed with invited guests when the hour rolled around for the ceremony. Outside was even a greater crush, a squadron of police cavalry and a large body of cops on foot being all they could do to handle the crowd. As usual in such cases the bridegroom was almost forgotten, the bride being the cynosure of the curious. Theodore, Jr., didn't seem to mind it, however.

Just at the last minute Colonel Roosevelt remembered that his former regiment of Rough Riders was in town and that they hadn't been invited. That wouldn't do at all, and in no time at all word was sent around to the Rough Rider headquarters to have "the boys jump into their uniforms and come along." There was mighty scurrying about for uniforms and strenuous efforts to round up the missing, but nearly fifty of the men managed to get together and, marching two abreast, reached the church in time to add a military touch to the wedding.

The reception was held at the home of Mrs. Alexander, mother of the bride. Here again the police had difficulty in restraining the crowd which jammed the church. The police, to people, remained until late in the evening to see Colonel Roosevelt come out. After lifting his hat in acknowledgment of the cheering and handclapping got into an auto and drove away and the crowd dispersed.

PURSE HAD FALSE BOTTOM

Alleged N. Y. Merchant Tried to Smuggle in $3,000 Worth of Jewelry.

New York, June 21.—Jewelry valued at $3,000 found in the pockets of Isaac Pollock, a clock merchant of this city, is held by the customs officials, subject to an explanation from Pollock. He was cited to appear at the customs house but failed to get there and the matter was reported to Collector Leob Pollock arrived on the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria Saturday, and according to the customs officials, declined to declare any valuables. He is alleged to have said the only thing he had of value was a little silver purse of unique workmanship. Aiding Deputy Surveyor of the Port O'Connor and Inspector Harnisch were much in the house of the purse. They examined it so minutely that a false bottom was found and the jewelry was uncovered.

Knight of St. John in Session.
Saturday, O. June 21.—The twenty seventh annual session of the International Knights of St. John is in session here. Delegates are in attendance from Columbus and other Ohio cities and from almost every state in the Union, as well as from Cuba and Canada. Governor Harmon will address the session.

CLIMAX REACHED IN CONTROVERSY.

Between Vanderbilt University Trustees and M. E. Church.

BISHOP HENDRIX TO FACE TRIAL

Chancellor Kirkland to Be Removed.
Nineteen Members of the Board of Trustees Will Get Fired and Law suit on the Program.

Memphis, Tenn., June 21.—Bishop E. R. Hendrix of Kansas City, Mo., will be cited for trial before a committee of twelve elders of the Methodist church in sixty days. Chancellor J. H. Kirkland of Vanderbilt university will be removed from his office by the Methodist college of bishops next month and nineteen members of the board of trustees of the university will be ejected from their trusteeship for insubordination and defiance of the church. A lawsuit will be brought in the federal court, perhaps at Nashville, Tenn., where Vanderbilt university is located, to enforce the rights of ownership and control of the property by the Methodist church south, and to force the present trustees to accept the three trustees elected at the recent general conference at Asheville, N. C. This is the present situation with regard to the controversy that has raged around the university for the past five months.

William K. Vanderbilt, who has so liberally endowed this Methodist institution, has openly espoused the cause of the trustees, who are in rebellion against the church's authority, and has written Chancellor Kirkland a letter in which he says that he has always understood that the board of trustees was a self-perpetuating body and that the Methodist church did not own or control the university.

Bishop Hendrix, as the president of the board of trustees, at the recent general conference the church went on record by practically a unanimous vote as holding that the university belongs in fee-simple to the Methodist of the south and instructed the college of bishops, of which Bishop Hendrix is a member, to take all legal steps to enforce this claim and the rights of the church in the institution.

WHITNEY AND RAINEY LEAVE

Young Sportsmen Off on Long Trip in Arctic Regions.

Boston, June 21.—Carrying a bountiful supply of trinkets and gumdrops for the Eskimo dwellers of the frozen north, the steamship Boathie, chartered by Harry Whitney of New Haven, Conn., and Paul J. Rainey of Cleveland for a hunting expedition in the Arctic, has sailed from South Boston.

The Boathie is under the command of Captain Robert Bartlett, who made the trip with Peary. Speculation as to whether Whitney would attempt to recover the records alleged to have been left by Dr. Frederick A. Cook at Etah remained unsatisfied by the last word of Captain Bartlett, was said with a smile: "We probably will not bother to take the time to hunt up Cook's record."

A fierce and protracted struggle ensued, Kirby realizing that he was not only fighting for liberty, but life. In those days Lynch law was only too common, and he knew what to expect at the hands of an infuriated, ignorant and unreasoning mob. And in the present instance all explanation would prove futile, for mob rule is not influenced by judgment, and he was already a dog with a bad name. They would hang him first and inquire into the merits of the case afterward. If possible prompt and ignominious death was his only salvation.

True to his class, Kirby's opponent possessed some knowledge of wrestling, but was totally ignorant of even the rudiments of pugilism, and the younger man confined his efforts to frustrating tripping attacks while at the same time striving to free his pinned right arm. This at length he succeeded in doing. A vicious wrench, a clever feint, a snatching uppercut, and the infuriated gentleman went down on his back, while Kirby, waving an airy salute to the now advancing army of yelling pursuers, took calmly to his heels.

But, fleet and long winded runner though he was, Kirby was not thus to be lightly outwitted. The cry of "Catch the murderer!" is infinitely more potent than that of "Stop thief!" and pursuers were multiplying in his track at an alarming rate, adding at every step fresh runners to their ranks.

On sped Kirby, every variety and class of humanity at his heels. Once or twice his way was barred by some energetic and inquisitive newcomer, but a clever dodge or a well directed blow left him to swell the ever increasing army of impotents in the rear. No fox doubling and redoubling on his tracks while in full view of the pack owned a more headlong dash in this staking account, and Kirby, against overwhelming odds than did the young gambler. By now the city proper had been gained, and the pursued, dashing around the first opportune corner, became lost to his pursuers.

Kirby found himself in a quiet street lined with aristocratic, fat little red brick houses whose drawing room balconies were little more than a man's height from the sidewalk. He vaguely realized that he was in the heart of New Orleans' old French quarter. The street was not very long, and he did not know to where it led. Owing to the early hour the sleeping or the houses were still closed, but one house seemed to be an exception, for his quick, searching eye noted on its right a half open drawing room window with its gently dipping curtain.

He had dropped into a quiet walk in order to gain the needed breathing spell, but now as the hue and cry of his persistent pursuers became more insistent he again broke into a run. In a few moments they would turn the corner and sight their quarry. Almost at the same instant another chorus of cries came from the far end of the street toward which Kirby was hastening. He hesitated but a moment, realizing that the enemy, familiar with the neighborhood, had divided its army and sent one contingent around his flank to head him off. He was trapped, for it was impossible to advance or retreat. Louder and louder sounded the cries from front and rear. Another minute and the short street would be choked with the meeting mobs.

Without hesitation or caring where it would lead, Kirby accepted the desperate and solitary chance that was offered him. Hastily returning to the house with the open window and ascending its steps, he leaped high in air, caught the overhanging balcony, drew himself up, leaped over the elaborately scrolled railing and, pushing aside the gently yielding curtains, stepped quietly into the room.

CHAPTER VII.

General looked up gratefully. "Dele, I wish you would read some more to me, for there are words here that are too long. Both the prices are just about the best I have ever heard of. One is a good price and the other a bad price. Which would you rather be, Antoine?"

"Oh, but the good price, of course," replied M. Veaudry, good humoredly concealing his vexation at being constantly interrupted in his matched waltz with the child's sister.

"Lots of 'em have so many half-breeds escapes I just can't tell whether I'd rather be the good one or the bad one," sighed the General. "Think of this: The good price is in a secret passage, and the bad price gets it walled up at both ends, but the good price has got a slow fuse leading through a crack to a barrel of gunpowder under the bad price's throne where he's sitting, but he doesn't know about it. What kind of time was that to tell anybody he couldn't hear the rest till after breakfast?"

"Drink your milk or you shall never hear any more," threatened M. Veaudry. And the child obediently but unwillingly seized the huge glass and attempted to drink it at a draft. "You are pale like the camellia," murmured M. Veaudry, resuming his waltz with Miss Randall. "It is only the air of the plantation you need to make you the rose, and we are going to make you renounce these black; we go to persuade you to wear both the rose and the camellia in your dress once more."

"Not yet," said the girl sternly, turning her back to him.

"I know what you mean," he returned, with deep significance. "Yet I tell you I think you are going to take off your waltzing as the plantation. When you do then you will listen to what I have kept in my heart so long."

"I will not listen to any other man before then," she interrupted listlessly.

"Why is Colonel Morone not to come with us?" she asked abruptly, turning to her aunt. "I have such impatience to meet him. Are we not to see him?"

"Oh, yes. Possibly he may come in time to start with us," returned M. Veaudry, resuming the General from strumulation as he again attempted to drink his milk at a draft in order to the sooner return to the "Two Princesses' Romance."

"If Colonel Morone doesn't come," said Ann Heydell, "that leaves an empty seat in the carriage. Adele, won't you ask Antoine to take it instead of riding on horseback?"

"Certainly, I do," replied Miss Randall in a tone of pleasant, lifeless voice. And although the young couple impulsively kissed her hand, she remained as strangely emotionless and expressionless.

"Come," she added colorlessly; "you and I, Ann, have our packing to finish."

"And there is a packing case in the courtyard," sighed M. Veaudry.

"Will you see for me if it is secure, dear Antoine?" Then as the two girls left the room she added gravely: "Adele has always been fonder of you, Antoine, than of any other man. You must help to rouse her from this gloom. She wears that mourning now more than a year. Ugh! She broods, she is so bitter, so strange, so impulsive, so full of morbid impulse. Because her father had no one to protect him the poor child thinks she should befriend all the world which is in trouble. Last week one day came home from the cathedral she had given her warm cloak to a ragged woman in the street. That was in the rain. You must help to rouse her, dear Antoine, from this gloom."

"It is no secret from all what I would give to make her happy once more," he replied, with gloomy sincerity.

"When the young couple and his hostess joined the others at their packing, the General, unnoticed and temporarily forgotten, had taken his book and seated himself under the table, in which city of refuge he hoped to follow without interruption the further adventures of his two heroines. With all a child's adaptation to environment it was not long before he became completely absorbed in the romance. Presently vague and disturbing cries came stealing in through the open window, and these he impatiently shook off, for natural inquisitiveness as to their origin was trivial compared to the fate of the two princesses. But the voices refused to be thus lightly dismissed. Excited cries of: "He went this way! Look in that courtyard! He turned this corner!" certainly metted the earnest attention and searching inquiry of every healthy eight-year-old whose native inquisitiveness cannot be dampened by being dragged from bed before dawn or discouraged by the prospect of an all day journey. After all, exciting fact is superior to exciting fiction, for the former is but temporary, while the latter is comparatively permanent to be used as a stimulant or sedative when real life is lacking in appeal.

Turning around and looking up from under the table, the General's inquiring eyes met those of Cameo Kirby, who, standing motionless by the curtains, was warily scanning the room. For a long moment man and boy mutually estimated each other, too surprised to speak. "Come; cheer up," said Kirby at length, unconsciously employing his characteristic phrase. "Don't be afraid."

"I'm not afraid," breathed the General, creeping cautiously from under the table.

"Does the roof of this house touch the roof of the house next door?" pursued the gambler, with a reassuring smile.

"No," said the child, round eyed.

"Are there people upstairs?"

"Yes, there are."

Kirby considered, no hint of his dilemma in voice or bearing. He felt that he could rely upon this child, who, with all the composure of a self possessed adult, evinced no alarm or amazement at the sight of an over-enthusiastic and disheveled young man entering a strange house via the window.

"Does that lead to the street?" he asked, pointing to a door on his right.

The General nodded. He was breathless and terrified with joy. "Are you somebody making a hairbreadth escape?" he stated rather than asked.

"I hope so," admitted Kirby, with a smile. "Do you want to be somebody helping me to do it?"

"Yes, of course. What do I do?"

"Go out on the balcony," Kirby gravely explained, "and look as if nothing was the matter. Lean your elbow on the railing and tell me what you see."

He drew aside the curtain as the child, with flushed cheeks and shining eyes, obeyed.

"There are men up on that corner," announced the General at length.

"Don't point," warned the man in the room. "How many men?"

"Five. Two of them all got guns."

"All right. Don't turn your head when you speak to me."

"There's more men hunting through the garden across the street," piped up the boy, yawning in the satisfying knowledge that at last, by some unconscious intervention of a benevolent providence, he had become an indispensable character in a very real adventure which promised to eclipse the most thrilling hairbreadth escape he had ever read.

"Are any of the men looking up here?" whispered Kirby.

"No," replied the boy, obeying, he cautiously closed one part of the window, but refrained from drawing the curtain.

"I think," impressively announced the General, approving of these preliminary maneuvers, "that this is better than where the good piece's trusty friend cuts his bonds. Which one are you?"

"Which what am I?" asked Kirby, with a perplexed smile.

"I mean are you the good piece or the bad piece?"

"Oh, I see. Well, I'll try to be the good piece for a few minutes if you'll help me to get away. Suppose you find me a hat, eh?"

The General, with that lively disregard for another's property which every loyal servant of unfortunate princes must possess, instantly seized M. Veaudry's hat, which was resting on an adjacent chair.

"Thank you," said Kirby gravely, covertly examining the pistol in his breast pocket. "This door leads to the street, you say? And there are live men on the corner, two with guns?"

"Yes, what do we do now?" briskly asked the boy.

The other gravely offered his hand.

"Why, now?" he said gently, "two shake hands, and I say thank you. And next we say good-bye."

"All right. Wait till I get my hat."

"But we just said good-bye," remonstrated Kirby.

"Yes, but I'm going with you. You don't know what minute you may need a trusty friend. Besides, I've got to see what happens next."

"That's just what you mustn't!" replied Kirby, shaking his head. "Don't you look out of that window when I've gone, and don't you come near the door. What do they call you?"

"General."

"Well, General, I've only known you about two minutes, but I'd hate to get you into any trouble. Now, we both would be in trouble if anybody came in here, so I've got to get out pretty quick, and we'll be in worse trouble if you try to follow me into the street. So I put it to you this way: If you really want to be my trusty friend just shake hands with me again and say good-bye."

"Will you promise I can be your trusty friend?" said the boy earnestly.

"No matter whether you turn out to be the good piece or the bad piece, I'll always be your trusty friend—always."

"Always," pledged Kirby, with the utmost sincerity.

"Then shake hands," said the General.

"They did so gravely. "Thank you, General," said Kirby. "I—"

He turned sharply at the sound of a softly closing door. A girl whose clear pallor was accentuated by the deep black of dress and hair. She had overheard the boy's last words, had estimated the tableau, and now as Kirby's eyes met her own the warm blood crept into throat and cheek, and she said impulsively, a little catch in her voice:

"So it is the General who has had the honor of receiving you, after all. I am so glad you have again changed your plans. Now you can go in the carriage with us."

"But you don't understand, Adele," cried her brother, while Kirby looked his astonishment. "This woman is after him, and he had to make a hairbreadth escape through the window. He lost his hat in his flight from somewhere."

"Wait, General. We'll finish the story after awhile," she interrupted, smiling understandingly at Kirby.

TROTTER DEFEATED DAVIDSON TEAM.

Three Straight But Score is Close.

Advance Far—Both Pitchers Hit Hard.

Games Today.
B. & O. at Davidson.

After losing three straight games to Davidson the Trotter team yesterday afternoon turned the tables and won a seven inning game 6 to 1. Both teams garnered 11 hits but Trotter's came at more opportune times.

The teams were tied in the fifth inning when Trotter took a two run lead. McDonough and McClintock struck in this inning but Trotter took a brace and fanned Fowler and Jolly Joe. Then Jones caught the ball and smashed it over Bartholomew's head in center field. McDonough and McClintock tallied but Jones was left on first base as Fink was retired.

Bartholomew was the heavy hitter for Davidson, getting three singles. Rose-blossom and Hart had two hits each.
H. Spittler was the only Davidson man who failed to connect safely. Jol-lie Joe, Jones and Fink each got two hits for Trotter.

Both pitchers allowed two bases on balls, each hit a batter, but Trotter had a shade the best of it in strikeouts, fanning 3. Jollicoe struck out 7.

Leisnering Beats Lemont.
The Leisnering team went to Lemont Monday night and crossed bats with the strong aggregation from that place. They played a fine uphill game on strange grounds, but won out in a final rally.

The Lemont team by good hitting took the lead from the start, scoring five runs in the first five innings to none for Leisnering. But after Leis-nering found the Lemont pitcher they took a battling rally and tied the score in the seventh inning and won out in the eighth. After Finerty the Leisnering pitcher got warmed up he was very effective and the Lemont base could not hit.

THE HORNETS STUNG
By Scrub Team Picked Up in Few Minutes at Smithfield.

SMITHFIELD, Pa., June 21.—(Special)—The Geneva Hornets, a highly looking aggregation of ball players, came here on Saturday and crossed bats with a nondescript nine of this place. The Hornets in their new uniforms looked formidable alongside the scrubs who were dressed in their common toga. The fans were all betting on the Hornets, but you can't judge a team by their looks, as the result of the game proved.

The scrubs wanted the ball to all corners of the diamond and played an errorless game, putting nine runs over the plate while one lone tally was the best that the visitors could do. The batteries were: Smithfield, Abraham, Hovel and Simon; Geneva, Malloy and Debole. Abraham had pitched four innings when he had to leave to go to work. Howell did good work the rest of the game.

Many cellars in the lower sections were flooded, some for the first time in five or six years.

before Justice of the Peace John Boyle, Walter Rockwell pleaded guilty to entering the home of J. J. Goutaking a $20 gold watch, a $20 gold piece and a $10 Confederate bill.

several retarding walls Saturday. Parts of Eastern bridge over Redstone creek

the result of the walk sinking sev-

During the storm, water ran from 8 to 12 inches deep through the main streets, but the only effect visible is a thorough cleaning which did more good than harm.

Second-Hand Pianos Attraction of Sale

May Be Bought on Reasonable Terms at the Reduced Prices

Several Discontinued Styles in Chickering, Knabes and Hardmans Offer Exceptional Opportunities to Economical Buyers.

It is in the low prices at which used and second-hand pianos are being sold that this preparatory sale has its greatest attraction.

This sale was gotten up for the very purpose of selling all used and second-hand pianos. We are making preparations for other big things during the next six months.

To get good and ready—it means—that during this month (the month of June) we should sell every used and second-hand piano on our floor.
Every odd style and all of the most expensive styles have also been reduced in price to make them move during the month, rather than to carry them through the summer.

In other words, we are "clearing up" during this entire month, preparatory to some big plans we have maturing for the last half of the year.

And it is thus that we say, that the greatest attraction of this sale is the used and second-hand of it.
But straight through the entire sale
the attraction is the price.

As much advanced as the most believable bargains in SECOND-HAND PIANOS.

There is not a discontinued style, or a used or second-hand piano in the lot that represents a dollar of profit. The prices have been cut down to the very last dollar they will stand to let us come out even.

In fact, the prices are so low that we doubt very much if some of them will not show a small loss.

The whole idea that is before us is, that these pianos must go, and they must go this month, and every instrument has been marked with this thought in mind. The person who wants to save money in buying a piano stands in his own light. If he does not buy one of these at once, art.

From the Orient are obtained the most elaborate specimens. In the production of wholly hand wrought silks embroidery, the Chinese and Japanese are the most expert of all nations.

These deft workers embroidery both sides alike, so it is impossible to detect a difference or to say which side is the neater.
